SUMMARY

I am a passionate advocate and ardent technology enthusiast devoted to developing skills relevant to modern realities and the 21st-century. I am constantly seeking new challenge while remaining greatly committed to personal and professional development. I began self-learning in frontend development track as a starting point with the aim to make an extraordinary transformation in technology.

While self-learning, I got a scholarship at Women Techsters Fellowship by Tech4dev to advance my studies.

I am a goal-oriented individual with competence in proffering practical and innovative solutions to problems. I am a young professional who understands the need and knows how to build trusting relationships with clients, team members, and business partners through effective networking, strategic planning, leadership, and other interpersonal skills.
